FRED BELEY WINS IN SHERIFF RACE; DUNWIDDIE ALSO

LYNN WHALEY IN A 2 TO 1 WALKAWAY FOR CORONER.

COUNTY RESULTS

Ely Again Becomes County A. Surveyor—Vote in Rock Light.

COUNTY WINNERS

Sheriff—Fred Beley
County Coroner—Lynn A. Whaley
County Clerk—Howard W. Lee
County Treasurer—Arthur M. Church
County A. Surveyor—Ely
Register of Deeds—F. P. Smiley

Fred Beley, sheriff of Rock county from 1913 to 1920 and under-sheriff for the past two years, won the republican nomination for sheriff at the primary election, Tuesday, in the most spectacular race on the county ticket. Beley's plurality was 712 votes over Capt. Floyd C. Henderson, Beloit, who ran second in the field due largely to the tremendous majorities given him by every ward in his home city. This is with only Avon missing. Charles R. Handy and Roy E. Worthington, both of Janesville, ran third and fourth respectively.

Dunwiddie, Whaley, Win Easly

In the other county contests, Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunwiddie, Janesville, had an easy time of it in defeating Herbert L. Cox, Beloit, to succeed Henderson. County Coroner Lynn A. Whaley ran away with his opponent Joseph A. McDowell, Beloit, winning by nearly 2 to 1. In the fourth county fight, County Surveyor Alexander W. Ely was renominated over R. H. Batterman, Beloit.

The four other county officers running for re-nomination without opposition—County Clerk Howard W. Lee, County Treasurer Arthur M. Church, Circuit Court Clerk Jesse Earle, and Register of Deeds F. P. Smiley—were given large complimentary votes.

Beley's total vote, with one precinct missing, was 3,774, while Henderson polled 3,062 votes. Handy was next in line with 2,335, some 700 votes behind Henderson, while the same figures marked the space between Handy and Worthington, who polled 1,514 votes. Returns from the three missing precincts are expected to swell Beley's plurality slightly.

How Precincts Went county. Of the 46 precincts in Rock county, 20 of them were carried by Beley and he tied in three others. Every ward in Janesville voted for Beley except the fifth, which Handy carried. Henderson carried all wards in Beloit. Henderson took 12 precincts, while Beley and Handy tied for first in Fulton while Beley and Worthington finished even in Milton and Union.

Alva E. Garey Nominated to Senate Seat Over T. S. Nolan in the Fifteenth District

Alva E. Garey, young Edgerton attorney, defeated Thomas S. Nolan for the state senate Tuesday. With two precincts missing, in the report, the Garey majority is 1,619. He carried Janesville by 355, winning his largest vote where La Follette was strongest.

The organized effort of the dry vote headed by women of the county and after by the combined strength of the La Follette supporters, added to this defection from the ranks of the regular republicans.

Garey simply followed the tide which has carried the state and every county so far reporting, but one, for La Follette.

Running true to past performances, Walworth county returned majorities for the republican candidates on the state ticket, nominating Frank Lawson, Walworth county banker for the assembly over B. O. Reynolds, Lake Geneva LaFollette candidate. In returning majorities for Garfield, Norzuan and their ticket, Walworth county probably stands alone in the state, based on present returns.

The upset of the county ticket primary was the nomination of Sheriff Jack White for clerk of the circuit court over George Kellogg, present incumbent, who has held the office for 18 years. Mr. Kellogg is among the oldest clerks of court in years of service in Wisconsin.

Harrington Nominated.

RAIL INJUNCTION MAY BE MODIFIED AT COURT HEARING

HELD DANGEROUS

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright, 1922, by The Janesville Gazette.

Washington—Unless Attorney General Daugherty modifies the philosophy of the temporary injunction he has obtained against the railroad shopmen, severe criticism of his course is inevitable in the United States senate.

Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the senate committee on labor, said today in this correspondence that he did not feel warranted in criticizing the attorney general at this time and that he would prefer to wait until after Sept. 11, when the federal court will decide whether or not to make the temporary injunction permanent and in what form it shall apply. Mr. Borah feels, however, that the temporary injunction, if made permanent, would be a dangerous precedent and that the right of interference of the government in private affairs would thereafter be almost unlimited.

Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Wholehearted Restrained.

If, for instance, B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen, could be interviewed on the subject of the strike, it might be possible for some newspaper to be enlisted from publishing it and writers might be restrained from discussing it in print. In other words, a situation parallel to that which Governor Allen precipitated when he had William Allen White, editor of the anti-trust paper, a position in his window might be developed.

Unions and Roads Deny Rail Peace Move Under Way

CHICAGO—Seven representatives of the striking railroad shopmen and the American Federation of Labor, to be in Baltimore Wednesday for a conference with railroad executives on a proposition to end the strike.

Mr. Scott intimated that a proposal, on which it was hoped the strike could be halted, had been prepared, but he would not outline it. The conference, he said, was to have been secret.

Should the meeting produce a favorable result, Scott said the policy committee of union representatives would be recommended to meet in Chicago.

CHICAGO—Leaders of the railway shopmen's strike and railroad executives were in accord Wednesday in denials of published reports that there was a new move on foot to settle the strike.

Inferred that Bert M. Jewell, head of the shopmen's organization, who had been absent from the strike headquarters since the government's strike injunction was granted by Judge Wilkeson last Friday, had been in conference in Baltimore with Daniel Wilkeson, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was contradicted by Mr. Wilkeson.

With rail heads asserting they knew of no new peace moves, John Scott, secretary, and J. F. McGrath, vice-president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, denied that a call had been issued from headquarters for a meeting of the union's policy committee here Thursday.

Other union officials declined to reveal the whereabouts of Mr. Jewell since he dropped out of sight last Friday.

INJUNCTION VIOLATES CONSTITUTION, CHARGE

Washington—The injunction obtained by the government against the striking railway shopmen was declared unconstitutional in the senate by Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, to be violative of both the constitution and the Clayton anti-trust act.

The Arkansas senator declared the injunction "abridges freedom of speech and of the press and the right of people peaceably to assemble."

He argued also that it violated the section of the Clayton act which he said implied "that laborers may organize and act in concert, for the purpose of mutual help without risk of prosecution under anti-trust laws."

Democrat Vote May Wipe Party Off State Slate

Fate of the democratic party seems to be in the balance. Only a few scattering returns have been received but wherever they are recorded they seem to indicate that the democratic ticket has fallen far short of the 25,000 required to get the names of candidates on the ballot.

In Rock county a number of precinct returns have been received. There were no local contests on the ticket and interest was centered in the larger fight.

12,800 VOTES IN COUNTY ELECTION

Turn-out Tuesday Heaviest in History of County—11,000 in 1920.

Rock county polled the heaviest primary vote in its history, Tuesday, more than 12,800 ballots being cast as compared with 11,000 in the primaries of 1920 when women were voting in the state election for the first time.

The gubernatorial race drew the heaviest vote in Rock county, 12,793, with Avon township missing. Next in interest was the senatorial race, in which 12,742 votes were cast. The sheriff contest accounted for 12,174 ballots.

Hundreds crowded Milwaukee and Bluff streets to watch the Gazette bulletins flashed on the screen, Tuesday night. On account of the heavy vote, returns came in as late as 10 o'clock, and the Gazette had to keep its fingers crossed to indicate definitely what the results would be.

Several thousand telephone calls were handled through the five trunk lines of the Gazette switched on at 8 o'clock. The Gazette had a smooth-running machine which not only covered Rock county but took in Walworth and Green counties.

The Associated Press state wire was kept open from 7:15 to 11:30 p. m. and the 12,800 votes were cast. The huge majorities given La Follette drew cheers from the crowd watching the screen.

A special election edition of the Gazette published at 8:30 Wednesday morning was distributed throughout the county.

Cox Leads in Campaign Cost

County Clerk Howard W. Lee predicted to the most economical of the county politicians seeking office for his statement filed at the Rock county court house shows a total expenditure of $2,550. The most money spent was by Herbert L. Cox whose campaign expenses were $1,400. E. A. Gary, $1,140; C. R. Henderson, $1,103; T. C. Henderson, $1,075; R. H. Batterman, $2,600; Lynn Whaley, $600; Arthur M. Church, $748; Thomas S. Nolan, $1,114; Alexander Ely, $1,110; Fred Beley, $1,104; Frank Smiley, $775; J. A. McDowell, $23; Jesse Earle, $750; A. E. Matheson, $20.40; S. G. Dunwiddie, $45.45. Two statements were filed by the Rock county republican club one for $1,165.55 and the other for $248.70.

Robert M. LaFollette carried Rock county by a majority of 1,472 and the state of Wisconsin by more than 150,000 at the primary Tuesday.

John J. Blaine following a short distance behind carried the county by a reduced majority, 204. The city of Janesville went for La Follette with 1,007 majority and heist gave him 501. Janesville was carried by Blaine by 490 and Beloit by 172.

The defeat of Thomas S. Nolan by Alva E. Garey was one of the features of the primary. Garey won by 1,619.

Henry Johnson carried the county by 2,567. Baker and Paulsen also carried the county. McHenry showed no speed his total vote being 283.

A. E. Matheson and Herbert Mosely carried the two assembly districts without opposition.

Walworth stands as the only county in the state which gave a majority for Garfield. It voted for Cooper and elected Lawson an anti-LaFollette man for assembly.

Everything points to a state legislature supporting Blaine the majority endorsed by the non-partisan league having been elected according to the early returns.

Milwaukee—Senator La Follette's lead over William A. Garfield for the republican senatorial nomination, increased as returns continued. 1,640 precincts out of 2,523, the vote was $2,530. La Follette 223,742.

Governor John J. Blaine also is increasing his lead over Attorney General William A. Morgan, the figures on 1,640 precincts show Blaine to have received 209,810, against 20,660.

Husbands' Day

At this store that's any day hubby cares to make it. You know there are a lot of husbands who could learn something if they went shopping with their wives, even occasionally. Some men actually think they know more than their better halves about spending money to advantage—assume an air of indulgent superiority. If you're one of them, hit the shopping trail with friend wifey some time. Take our word for it, you've got a big lesson coming to you.

A few trips will give you a new slant on the art and science of "buying right."

My dear Mr. Gillette:

I am glad that you asked me about my Gillette razor. The old one I have used, I thought I represented the last word in shaving comfort, but the new and improved Gillette certainly is proving to be a genuine revelation.

I am sure you know how well worth it is to have a razor that gives you a clean, close shave, and how much more time and money you save by using a Gillette razor. I am sure you will find it a most valuable addition to your wardrobe.

Please accept my sincere congratulations on the remarkable service you have made in improving Gillette Razors.

Sincerely yours,

WHAT ARE YOU DOING TO HELP SUPPORT JANESVILLE'S PAYROLL?

Suppose one industry employing only 50 men should go out of business or move to another city because the people where it was trying to do business would not support it. Do you realize what that would mean in lost business to any community?

If every employe of that institution drew $106 per month, the aggregate loss would be $5000 per month or $60,000 per year lost in wages. The banks, grocers, barbers, jewelry stores, jobbers, furniture stores, etc., would all be affected. The manufacturing and business houses in general feel the pinch. And so does every

There is no denying the fact that everyone in a city depends upon the business or that city. And in turn the business of any city depends upon the individual buyers of that city for the consumption of goods and services. This should be remembered in connection with the present article manifest and as in JAMESVILLE, for every man cut from the local payroll because of lack of local support for home industries inevitably brings its reaction to one and all.

C. OF C. IN ANNUAL MEETING, MONDAY

The annual meeting of the local Chapter of Commerce will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 p. m. next Monday. Thurston T. Blakely, president of the Chamber at Okmulgee, Okla., will speak. H. S. Lovejoy, president of the local organization, will preside.

The meeting will be in the form of a banquet. Tickets are now on sale at the Chamber. Plans for the harvest festival and homecoming to be held here Sept. 22 and 23 are progressing. Representatives of all the women's lodges of the city met at the Chamber, Tuesday afternoon, and made arrangements to take charge of the rooms and women's floats.

The executive committee of the festival will meet at the Chamber rooms at 7 p. m. Wednesday.

LA FOLLETTE BY LARGEST MAJORITY GIVEN IN PRIMARY

Blaine Alone With Job Gov. John J. Blaine and the entire La Follette state ticket are also making a considerable showing in the exception. Out of 1,409 precincts reporting Blaine obtained 172,589; Morgan 31,683; McHenry 8,571.

A Close Race

The closest race, that for the nomination of state treasurer on the republican ticket, and years to be the closest contest. Sel. Lovett was leading Henry Johnson, incumbent by about 3,500 votes in figures from 1955 precincts; the vote being Lovett 9,021 and Johnson 5,521.

The next closest race is between Herman L. Ekern, for the nomination of attorney general. Out of 955 precincts Ekern's vote was 57,071 and Baker's 75,551.

Zimmerman, La Follette candidate for secretary of state, has a commanding lead over Paulsen. In 991 precincts, the vote was Zimmerman 102,421 and Paulsen 59,785.

In the congressional race the following republicans have been nominated: First district Congressman H. A. Cooper; Second district, Congressman Edward Volstead; Third, Congressman John M. Nelson; Fifth district, Congressman William H. Stafford; Sixth district, Congressman Florian J. Lampert; Seventh district, Congressman J. D. Peel; Eighth district, Congressman E. D. Brown.

Close Congressional In the fourth district the contest for the seat of congressman John C. Kinkaid, who declined to run again, is close. John Schaefer of Milwaukee is leading John Grunwald also of Milwaukee, by 134, the vote being 8,272 for Schaefer; 8,138 for Grunwald with only 2 precincts to be heard from. Another contest that is decidedly close is that in the ninth district where Congressman D. G. Clason did not contest for re-nomination. George J. Schneider, farmer-labor candidate obtained 12,925 in 146 precincts out of 243; Miller, Grass 12,358; Elmer Hart 7,411.

There were no contests for congress by the democrats.

Blaine in Statement Governor J. J. Blaine upon assurance of his nomination as republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, today issued a formal statement to the newspapers attacking the statement, and expressing gratification to the people for the victory of himself and Senator La Follette.

The governor said that he "proposed to make good on every promise made to the people during the campaign, with the first attack of the opposition to meet at the platform convention, Sept. 19. The progressives should be alive, he said, to see that their members nominated at the primaries do not warp in the sunshine of paid agents of big business who will be sent to them."

"More than anything else, we congratulate the people on their wisdom in re-nominating our peerless commoner for the senate," Governor Blaine said, speaking of Senator La Follette. "No other man in our time has been so wickedly libeled and slandered, but here in good old Wisconsin the people have had faith and remained true."

TEACHERS' RECEPTION HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

The annual teachers' reception, one of the first social events of the school season, will be held Friday night at the high school. The teachers returning, are to entertain those coming here for the first time. The entertainment will consist of "miming" games, novelties, and refreshments. Supt. James Dorrans of the vocational school; E. S. Lamoreaux and Miss Josephine Jamison of the high school faculty; and Miss Ruth Kunklin and Miss Madden of the grade school force, are making arrangements.

CHANGES ARE MADE AT LEATH'S STORE

Two changes have been made in the staff at the furniture store of A. Leath and company here. James Stewart, employed here since the store opened, has been transferred to Leath's store in Kalamazoo, Mich. His place here has been taken by E. J. McEllin, formerly connected with the McEllin and Welsh insurance firm. Mr. Welsh will continue the insurance business.

sin occupied the greater part of the governor's statement.

Denounces Newspapers "With a daily press of some 45 papers, less than half a dozen played fairly with their readers," he asserted. "Falsehoods were played up for the truth," he said, "while honest news was suppressed."

"It will take a long time for some of the offenders against the decent newspaper ethics to live down the record of mendacity they have made in this campaign. But safety lies only in keeping up the fight until the press shall become reasonably honest with its readers."

"The source of news to the people were largely corrupted during the campaign," the governor claimed.

"The system press works on the theory that a lie well told and repeated from day to day will finally pass current for the truth."

MOVIES

"Motion Picture News," says of "THE STORM"

"H ERE'S a picture for you! It towers over anything of its kind ever presented on the screen. A crushing, smashing drama of eternal romance which is vivified to the highest degree. There are tense pictures of climax which give this picture its rugged strength. The ultimate climax reveals a huge, colorful forest fire—the like of which has never been seen before."

"What makes this picture great? Well, it is excellently directed, the story is simplicity itself, and builds easily and surely. The sub-titles are unobtrusive, and all the interwoven in the plot so that the action is even advancing. The backgrounds of forest, mountains, gorges, rivers, snow, ice and fire, vital and vivid, lend a ruggedness. Finally, the acting is excellent. Some of it is more than excellent."

An overwhelming majority was given the La Follette state of state and county candidates in Jefferson county. Frederick Bullwinkel, Jefferson, being the only member of the opposition to survive the primary.

The largest vote for any one man in Jefferson county was cast for Senator La Follette, 5,922; and not far behind was Governor Blaine with 5,480. The returns are for all the county except Concord township. John C. Schumann, Watertown, La Follette man, was nominated for state senator from the 33rd district, returns from Jefferson county indicate. Schumann was given 4,136 to the following vote for his opponents: Mrs. Theodore Schumann, Watertown, 1,624; S. A. Baird, Watertown, 1,491.

Killian Beats Stokes In the fight for the republican nomination for assembly, Eugene H. Killian won over Assemblyman Henry W. Stokes. The vote was Killian, 4,621; Stokes, 2,314.

Dennis Smith, Jefferson, La Follette candidate, was nominated for sheriff over Mrs. A. M. Woelfel, wife of the present sheriff, and Roy Sherman of Watertown. Smith had 2,760; Sherman, 2,562; and Woelfel, 2,156. It is not believed Concord can change this record.

Bullwinkel, fighting a three-cornered fight, scored a victory by a wide margin for county treasurer. In the face of the large vote for other La Follette candidates, his showing and victory is surprising. The incomplete results show: Bullwinkel, 3,264; Arthur Riebe, Jefferson, 1,847; Edward Allpeter, Sumner, 1,674.

Waterloo Man Beaten Backed by Ray C. Twining, who ran for judge for district attorney, James D. Hyer, Waterloo, was defeated for the nomination for district attorney by Otto Kuenzli, Watertown by a margin of 513 votes.

Congressman Edward Voight was given a large vote, almost as large as Blaine and La Follette, by Jefferson county in his campaign for nomination. His vote was 5,885 to 6,000 cast for his opponent Edward Gehl, Hartford.

THE REVOLUTION REACHES WISCONSIN
Since the beginning of the primary elections this year there has been a succession of revolutions in political campaigns. Added to his personal following the senior senator of Wisconsin with a characteristic campaign has swept to his support and under his banner, several thousand people who have hitherto been opposed to him. He never has received the socialist vote before and in spite of the warnings of Beyer and other leaders the socialist counties have gone overwhelmingly for him. He has received the almost solid vote of the German element and organized labor has apparently not lost a man in the voting. A hundred things entirely outside the purview of the candidates on the conference ticket and for which they were not responsible in any way, contributed to their defeat. Where for instance Morgan was strong because of his attitude on various public measures and his record in office, he was weak because of his position on the wet and dry question. From the very beginning no one with a particle of political sense had any hope that Ganfield could win. He was a forlorn hope. There was a defection from Blaine sufficient to make it a possibility that Morgan would have a chance if the vote of the senior senator should be less than overwhelming. But as the ancient saw says, the "tail goes with the hide" and Mr. Blaine was carried to victory under the protecting wing of La Follette.
All of which is merely incidental to the larger matter in hand and having more to do with questions of greater importance than ever La Follette may be. The revolution involves the government and governmental principles everywhere in the nation and the attitude of the people has come to be the same. There is a great and fixed notion that the Harding administration is failing, is weak and wasteful of time, unable to cope with the larger questions we have confronted. Unjust or not that is the belief. The Gazette warned the senate when it voted Mr. Newberry into office that it would be an issue and it came to be a serious one. Failure to cope with the strike has shaken confidence of both strikers and rail owners in the ability of the administration to meet great questions. We have a tremendous crop and it is rotting because of the wreck of transportation systems. Efforts to meet and settle economic and industrial matters have only succeeded in widening the breach. Add to that a campaign here that presented the hope of remedying all ills and it is not hard to see why La Follette and Blaine won easily.
The farmer groping for a way out of the wilderness of complicated marketing in which he sees the consumer paying great prices for what he sold for little, the laboring man listening to stories of tax evasion and profiteering, the women of the state uncertain about the ballot which is a new and complicated thing to them—all have contributed to the revolution which seems to have taken the legislature and the entire state administration into the fold.
If the democrats have been able to cast enough votes to retain a place on the ticket the republicans who did not vote for La Follette will find a place to go, otherwise without independent candidates, and there is no likelihood of there being any from among those defeated, it will be easy sailing for the ticket named Tuesday.
As to Mr. Morgan and also Mr. Ganfield, they have simply suffered the penalty of being candidates who were defeated. Personally they have lost little. Both have qualities of leadership far above the average. But if either should again enter a contest they will have learned that they cannot tie themselves to any machine which is under suspicion and the impulse must come from some other city beside Milwaukee and its sea of political intrigue.
THE ABSURD GANDHI
There was a time in the United States when a few sympathizers—the kind that are always grabbing at some new fad and the farther away it is the better—were weeping tears for Gandhi and his Indian mutiny. The Gazette at the time said that Gandhi was a religious zealot and living in an unnatural state of frenzy. He wanted to be a second Jesus Christ and his fanatical and ignorant followers were of the receptive mind. But we had some of the regular revolutionists in this country who wept maudlin tears for Gandhi and hoped that he would add to the "free people of the world" by upsetting the orderly government in India and butchering the English. Gandhi was the apostle of nonresistance to anything. He resisted a little when finally looked up after he had instigated riots by his followers and the Mohammedan people of India had taken advantage of the strife to commit outrages, but that

WHEN MAINE VOTES

By FRIDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Within a week the country will have heard from Maine. The politicians will then have something tangible upon which to base their prognostications as to the result of the November elections, for the voters of the Pine Tree state will have gone to the polls and registered their sovereign will. As they vote, according to the time-honored tradition, so will the country as a whole vote in November.

On Monday, Sept. 11, Maine will elect a governor, a United States senator, four congressmen and a state legislature. When the votes have been counted and the result announced either the republicans or the democrats will go into the nation-wide campaign with renewed hope and courage.

Maine is usually republican, but always a battle ground. Both parties go after the state as hungry dogs after a bone, for the leaders are mindful of the psychological effect on the country. The best speakers at the command of the republican and democratic committees have been drawn into the state, tons of literature have been drawn upon freely in order that the best possible showing may be made.

The vice president of the United States, cabinet ministers and the more prominent of their senators and congressmen from all over the country have been making speeches for the republican candidates in Maine. The democrats have no national officials to send into the state, but they have not been lacking in spell-binders to carry their appeal to Maine voters.

Without violating any confidences it may be said that the reports from Maine thus far reaching Washington indicate that the voters there are not wildly excited. This may mean that on the whole they are satisfied with the manner in which state and national affairs have been conducted, that they are taking the campaign in an entirely matter of fact way and that they will return the normal republican majorities. On the other hand, it may mean an apathy that will make for democratic gains.

Predictions are not in order at this stage. Chairman Adams of the republican national committee, contents himself with saying that he and his colleagues see no cause for concern in Maine. Democratic chieftains say even less, for while they may be hopeful it is scarcely to be expected that they would be confident of winning in view of the fact that Maine has always been classed as a republican stronghold. Let the democrats elect any part of their ticket, however, and they will be heard from after Sept. 11.

National interest in the Maine result, centers largely in the fate of Senator Frederick Hale, republican candidate for re-election. Senator Hale is distinctly an administration senator and one of President Harding's close personal friends. If he should be defeated, or even if his majority should be greatly reduced, it would be a blow that would make every republican wince, from the president down. Of course it is not anticipated that his vote will be anything in comparison with the republican landslide of 1920, but his friends will be gratified if it is not materially below normal. There have been rumors that the labor vote was being lined up against him, and this will be watched closely.

Mr. Hale enjoys the distinction of being the third member of his family in direct line to hold a seat in the United States senate. His maternal grandfather was the late Senator Zachariah Chandler of Michigan, and his father, the late Eugene Hale, represented Maine in the senate for 30 years. His democratic opponent is former Governor Oakley C. Curtis of Portland.

The candidates for governor are, Percival P. Baxter, republican and William R. Pattangall, democrat. Mr. Baxter is the present incumbent of the state's chief executive office, having succeeded Governor Frederick B. Peabody, who died in January, 1921, only a few months after his election. He has served almost a full term and is running on his record and on his advocacy of the conservation of the water power resources of the state.

Mr. Pattangall has served as attorney general of the state, and is rated as one of the best campaigners as well as one of the leading democrats in Maine. He is making his fight chiefly on the economy issue, assailing Governor Baxter and the republican administration as the most extravagant in history.

The four republican congressmen from Maine are candidates to succeed to their seats. They are: Charles L. Boodry, first district; Wallace H. White, Jr., second; John E. Nelson, third, and Ira G. Horsey, fourth. Their democratic opponents are, respectively, Louis L. Donahue, Bertrand C. McIntire, Leon O. Tebbetts and James W. Sewell.

Inasmuch as only three democrats have ever won a congressional election in Maine—since before the civil war, that is—the republicans are not uneasy nor are their adversaries unduly optimistic. Samuel W. Gould and L. D. M. Sweet, each of whom served a single term, and Daniel J. McGillicuddy, who represented the third district for three terms, are the democrats who have made history in congressional fights in Maine.

The democrats of Maine elected governors in 1910 and 1914 and away back in the seventies and eighties they were successful in putting over the head of their state ticket in two coalitions formed with the "greenbackers." In 1910, the year, also, when McGillicuddy first broke "into the house" from the third district, the result in Maine in September was especially prophetic of what was to happen in the country at large in November, for that was the year of the first democratic landslide since the days of Cleveland.

Aside from its significance as the national political barometer, however, the early campaign in the Pine Tree state is of value and importance to both parties in that it affords what may be termed a try-out both for speakers and issues. After they have heard from Maine the party leaders know what issues to emphasize and what ones to minimize if they hope to get the people with them, and they also get a line on what speakers are their most effective spellbinders.

Candidates in other states are always ready to go into Maine to assist in the oratorical bombardment in this first battle of the biennial war. They know that it will be an excellent preliminary training for their own campaign later on and they have heard that speakers who can hold and enthuse Maine audiences can usually get by anywhere else in the country.

Incidentally, after Maine has been heard from next week, the public may be sure that, whatever the result there, the leaders of both parties will issue statements claiming that it was entirely satisfactory and altogether encouraging. Old General Buncombe, is still in command!

Resistance ended in prison where he has since been confined. Now Gandhi has issued a further analysis of the doctrine of nonresistance. He says if he walked down to the Ganges and a crocodile looked at him with open jaws denoting hunger, he should not resist but permit the crocodile to eat him without hesitation. "If I resist," says Gandhi, "I break the laws of God. Therefore I say to the crocodile, 'eat me!'"

It may be that Gandhi can make this sort of talk with win the heathen of India but the American must be far gone in neurasthenia and plain assnility to accept a man of this sort to lead a people to "liberty." Gandhi's economic theories are about as absurd and as equally unhuman and unreasonable to rational beings. It is time Mr. Gandhi was dropped as a serious subject.

Good Morning Mr. Whaley: you can continue to act as cornerer.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE YELLOW DOG

It was a little yellow dog, a wistful look to see. A homely, skinny, battered pup, as dirty as could be. His ribs were showing through his hide, his coat was thick with mud. And yet the way he wagged his tail completely captured Bud.

He had been kicked from door to door and stoned upon his way. "Begone!" was all he'd ever heard, 'twas all that folks would say. And yet this miserable cur, forever doomed to roam. Struck up a comradeship with Bud, who proudly brought him home.

I've never seen so poor a dog in all my stretch of years. The burrs were thick upon his tail and thick upon his ears. He'd had to fight his way through life and carried many a scar. But still Bud brought him home and cried: "Say, can I keep him, Ma?"

I think the homeless thing knows that age is harsh and that the world is full of pain. And from the shabby thrills of life in scorn is quick to turn; And when some scruffy yellow dog needs sympathy and joy— He's certain of a friend in need, if he can find a boy.

CONFESSIONS OF A CYNIC

I see a Broadway vaudeville actor is advertising for some young woman as a "feeder." There are a lot of good feeders along that street.

A theatrical agent knocked his partner out the other day with a crack of geraniums. That is what you might call saying it with flowers.

A French scientist has invented a camera that will photograph thought, and it has proven successful. But if they ever try it on a Broadway chorus girl it will fall down.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce says she is a sensible business woman now. There never was anything the matter with her business ability.

Scientist claims that bleaching the hair causes insanity. But I claim that insanity causes bleaching of the hair.

When the movie producers make up their minds to the stars to play trucks or flitting the plays to stars, they will begin to get somewhere.

One gent in matrimonial advertisement says he wants to marry "an actress or a lady." My word!

Two princesses of Russia are advertising for husbands who must be "honest but rich." Apparently there are still optimists in Russia.

We are glad the theatrical season is open and that the dramatic critics can get back to work. It is tough to see them standing around all summer doing nothing.

We have spoken about this matter several times before. The burglars and holdups men have been heard to express general dissatisfaction with the way things are being run, and they are anxious for a more equitable distribution of territory and less cut-throat competition.

Residential burglary is being considered for new legislation. The working rules for second-hand men are hopelessly muddled.

For instance, no two burglars should be allowed to enter the same house on the same night. It only means a duplication of effort and needless sleep on the part of innocent householders.

Moreover, a man who has been robbed during a night has not had opportunity to lay in any fresh valuables for the second visitor. The situation is thus a disappointment all the way around.

Similarly, when two holdup men approach the same victim from opposite directions they should match coins to see who is to have the pleasure of going through his pockets. The coin for this purpose will be obligingly furnished by the victim himself.

In case the two professionals can't agree the victim may be permitted to express his preference. His decision shall be final.

CHILDREN WHO SQUINT

Squint (also called strabismus and cross eye), may occur from paralysis of one or more of the eye muscles in head, injuries or serious systemic diseases from which the child becomes crossed. When such paralysis they do not see with both eyes and double vision results. But in most instances, in children, squint is either congenital (the eye is crossed from birth) or due to faulty refraction. Squint due to an error in refraction is likely to appear first when the child is two or three years old and begins to regard near objects for considerable periods of time. It is likely to be noticed by parents at first shortly after some acute illness such as measles or scarlet fever, and parents are prone to ascribe the squint to the illness. Such illnesses do not cause cross eye, but merely precipitate the trouble by temporarily lowering the child's vitality and strength. Any acute illness may bring out any form of eye-strain or visual weakness in a person of any age. People with defective vision must be particularly careful about overuse of the eyes while the weakness incident to or following any severe illness is still present. Attempts to read or do for instance, a child showing a squint even temporarily, at frequent intervals, should by all means have the benefit of careful examination by the oculist. Far-sightedness is a common cause of squint and if this is corrected by the proper lenses shortly after the squint has become manifest not only will the cross eye be prevented from becoming permanent, but the child's vision will be conserved. The squint is allowed to go without such attention, on the foolish reasoning that "glasses weaken the eyes" or that the child will "outgrow it." The deviating eye is likely to become blind in time. It seems that the image, or rather the mental impression made by the image through the deviating eye in squint or cross eye is suppressed or ignored, so that the child will not be annoyed with double vision, and if this is allowed to go on for months or years, belated correction with glasses of otherwise may fail to restore vision to the deviating eye. It is regrettable, of course, to have to adjust spectacles to the eyes of a child two years of age, but this is infinitely less regrettable than waiting until the child is six years of age, or even later, before the eyes can be permanently straightened then by glasses or operation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Sunburn.
Mr. T. H. G., a pharmacist, offers the following, based on his own personal experience with sunburn, to which he is very sensitive:
"The best preventives, to my mind, are weak glycerine lotions or without Zinc Oxide and Calamine. The glycerine lotion should contain one ounce two per cent of glycerine, and while this may not absolutely prevent sunburn, I feel sure it has a tendency to lessen the irritation. After exposure is the time that greasy preparations come in useful, whether fresh or old. I have used (never an old preparation) or zinc oxide ointment or other soothing unguent."
The Calamine Lotion, commonly used for the relief of itching and irritation of the skin from various causes, is:
Oxide of zinc.....One dram
Glycerine.....One dram
Lime water.....One quart
Shake well and use as directed.
Directions: Shake well, and dab on the skin without rubbing.
When itching is intense, one ounce of five per cent carbolic solution may be substituted in the formula for one ounce of the rose water. Druggists are generally permitted to sell five per cent solution of carbolic acid without prescription, but cannot sell pure carbolic acid without prescription.

Swimming.
I read in different doctor books how swimming causes curvature of the spine in girls or women so in..... (Miss K. M. L.)
Answer: Swimming never causes curvature of the spine, and the truth is that there is no better exercise to prevent or cure curvature of the spine.

Child Grinds Teeth.
..... Seven years old..... chicken pox two years ago and pitting likely to disfigure..... grinds teeth at night when sleeping. (Mrs. C. S.)
Answer: I know of no remedy for the grinding or gnawing small pox, or for that following chicken pox. Children with adenoids often grind the teeth in sleep.

Who's Who Today

REP. FREDERICK HICKS

Rep. Frederick Hicks, Republican, of New York, author of the Wadsworth-Hicks aviation bill now before the house, is one of the most active members of congress in behalf of development of aviation in the United States. He is traveling today and recently flew from Chicago to Washington to reach a meeting at the national capital.

The New York congressman, who represented the first New York district in the lower house since the sixty-fourth session, he ran for the sixty-third session, but suffered defeat in his first attempt to win a seat. He was born in Westbury, Long Island, March 6, 1872. He was educated at Swarthmore and Harvard. He has been active in the banking business and is now a trustee of the Roslyn Savings Bank and director in other banks and realty concerns.

Q. What is a body politic? E. L. A. A good definition of a body politic is found in the preamble to the constitution of the state of Massachusetts, as follows: "The body politic of an individual, it is a social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good. It is the duty of the people, therefore, in framing a constitution of government, to provide for an equitable mode of making laws, and for an impartial interpretation of the laws, and for a faithful execution of them; that every man may at all times find his security in them." In other words, a body politic exists for the purposes of government, and its powers may extend to complete control over the lives, liberty and property of its people. These purposes as stated in the preamble to the constitution of the United States are "to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and to our posterity."

Q. What is used as alloy in United States gold money? C. M. A. United States gold coin is 90 parts gold and 10 parts alloy. This alloy is copper with a little silver.

Q. What is the smallest county in England? A. P. U. A. Rutland is the smallest county, containing but 162 square miles.

Q. Who is the head of the Scottish Yacht Club? Why was it called that? K. H. A. Scotland Yard is the headquarters of the Metropolitan police of London and is situated within a stone's throw of the houses of parliament in southwestern London. Formerly the department was housed in a group of buildings surrounding a courtyard named Chancery Cross. It developed from a police station, and a palace assigned from the time of Edgar to Henry II as the residence of the Scottish kings when they visited in London. The present head is Sir Edward Henry, commissioner. The chief is appointed by the crown upon the recommendation of the home secretary. Sir Edward Henry is the originator of the system of fingerprinting as identification which is rapidly superseding the Bertillon system in all countries.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO.
Sept. 6, 1882.—There are more strangers in town today than there have been for a long time. There are about 200 Knights Templar here to attend the state convention, two theatrical companies, a horde of politicians and any number of lookers-on. They are all attending to their business in-doors, however, and the streets do not present a very animated appearance.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.
Sept. 6, 1892.—The Rock county fair opened this morning with little ceremony and no very large crowds. Tuesday is never a big day, being given over to arranging the exhibits.—Toledo in Rock county had a narrow escape from frost last night.—The Commissioner C. L. Valentine has returned from the northern part of the state, where he secured pike for breeding purposes for the state hatchery.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.
Sept. 6, 1902.—Soda fountain business in the city fell off 25 per cent from last year because of the cool weather all summer.—More than half of the amount needed to secure the Dough Shade Corporation here, has been secured.—Thirteen hundred pounds of explosives were used in the gigantic explosion at the city quarry tomorrow.

TEN YEARS AGO.
Sept. 6, 1912.—The case of Hugh Waggoner, accused of stealing from Robert Denser a gold watch and $8, in which there has been considerable interest in the city, was dismissed today when it was found that Waggoner had purchased the watch.—Forty responded to the call for material for football for this year's high school season and were at the school this morning.

Play in City Title Tennis Meet Starts on Wednesday

Copyright 1920 by Geo. McManus

32 ARE ENTERED IN SINGLES AND 16 IN DOUBLES

Play in the second annual city tennis tournament of the Janesville tennis club is scheduled to start Wednesday afternoon. While no definite schedule is announced, the pairings were given out Wednesday morning.

Thirty-two players are to take part in the singles. Sixteen teams are entered in the doubles.

It is expected that the tournament will be completed within the next two weeks. There are so many brackets will be necessary before the title is decided. The doubles will require four brackets.

A consolation tournament will be held for those eliminated in the first round. Play in this tournament will take place coincident with the championship rounds.

Prizes are to be given the winners and runners up in the singles and doubles. A cup will be presented the winner of the consolation.

Donnet Starts Out

George Bennett, winner of the 1921 city classic in the singles, will not compete in this meet in the singles.

One of the players will be Bill Austin, junior net champion this season.

The Y. M. C. A. tennis courts on West Milwaukee streets are in good shape for the meet. There are three this year, making it possible to run off the meet in quicker time.

Singles.
H. P. Persson vs. Leo Dugan; Ed. Clark vs. Cyril Rossob; H. M. Nowlan vs. Frank Sincier; Willard Austin vs. Ed. Allen; John Gross vs. K. Schmidt; R. Bolles vs. Dean Kimball; Harold Rehberg vs. Roger Cunningham; Doc Johnson vs. C. F. Travers; Sam McKaig vs. Claude Bennett; George Burpee vs. A. Hubbel; Rev. Pierson vs. Harris Drew; Leon Battig vs. Robert Cunningham; Carl Roberts vs. C. E. Cough; William Schmidly vs. Reuter; Neil Bingham vs. R. O'Brien; Gene Rich vs. Don Bolles.

Doubles.
Sam McKaig-C. F. Travers vs. Matheson-Hubbel; Allen-O'Brien vs. Austin-Partner; Ebor Arthur-Partner vs. Bolles-Cunningham; Ed. Clark-Partner vs. George Cunningham; C. E. Cough-William Schmidly vs. Reuter; Neil Bingham vs. R. O'Brien; Gene Rich vs. Don Bolles.

Rev. Pierson drew a bye; Sam McKaig-C. F. Travers vs. Matheson-Hubbel; Allen-O'Brien vs. Austin-Partner; Ebor Arthur-Partner vs. Bolles-Cunningham; Ed. Clark-Partner vs. George Cunningham; C. E. Cough-William Schmidly vs. Reuter; Neil Bingham vs. R. O'Brien; Gene Rich vs. Don Bolles.

Footville Sox

Win 14 Inning

Game from Orford

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Orfordville—The local American Legion and the Footville White Sox battled for 14 innings here Labor day, the Sox coming out on top, 14 to 10. It was the best and most exciting game of the season. Jacobson, Hager and Dooly pitched for Orfordville with Kothley, catcher. Lentz, Snyder and Silverthorn went the long route for Footville.

Fort Ready for

Thursday's Fete

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Fort Atkinson—With the weather man still smiling, it looks as if the American Legion-Pow-Wow Thursday will be one of the biggest events in Southern Wisconsin this year.

Two truck loads of groceries for the concessions blew in Wednesday afternoon. Another truck of meat is expected Wednesday night. The huge barbecue. The dance floor of the open air pavilion is in excellent condition. The ball diamond has been put in ideal shape for the two big games. No less than 10,000 are being prepared for by 2:30 p. m. when the big game between the Beloit Fairies and the Famous Chicago is to start.

A clown band is expected, from Watertown. Another freak outfit will represent Jefferson. Some of the shops at Jefferson will close for the afternoon. Edgerton and Fort Atkinson are to clash in the preliminary game in the morning.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINGLATH
COLONEL GRIFFITH was appointed commissioner of the Big Ten conference to crystallize ideas of what constitute clean sport. The situation that arose last year, when the light of publicity was turned upon professional sports, prompted the step. Statements from the Big Ten have been to the effect that the new office was created to crush the "pro" evil in the bud.

ALONG comes a Madison sports scribe named "Roundy" with a shrieking wall that because he does not glimpse much of the material in the University of Wisconsin should "go out and get stars and not sit tight until the wind blows them in." Roundy shouts:

"OUT AT WISCONSIN IT IS: 'Be a nice boy now and do not play baseball this summer. Get a job in a chicken orchard, and pick dandelions, and come back to school clean as the 'Good Lord will let you.' It is no secret that other colleges are out looking for men that can play football, basketball and baseball who are boys more in high school—but it is a clutch that no one is out here trying to get stars to come here. While other colleges are getting away with murder, Wisconsin is trying to get the boys more prayer books. Wake up, Wisconsin!"

IF THERE IS one thing for which Coach Tom Jones of Wisconsin can be praised, it is his valiant battle for clean athletics. If he cannot make teams out of the material at hand, he will not go out and try to get away with murder by procuring stars. Aside from the out and out violation of sportsmanship such action entails, what credit is it to a university, a coach, to win championships with stars other schools have made? It shows far greater ability to fashion a presentable organization from the crude.

ROUNDY'S attitude is dangerous. Whether he likes it or not, he must concede that the purpose of the university of Wisconsin is education and the development of manhood and sportsmanship. Athletics are secondary. While it may be said college athletics are to a minor extent advancing the making of men, it cannot make a man by advocating violation of the law. If Roundy does not like other schools to outdo Wisconsin—and he does—and has evidence that they are violating conference rules, as he is violating conference rules, but use his power to see that other members of the conference are made to obey the rules.

Welsmuller ties world's record for 50 yards, making it in 1:23.

Diamond Sparkles—The Browns slipped back into first place by defeating Cleveland, 10-9. Williams getting home No. 34—After dropping the opener to the cinders, 2-5, the White Sox took the second, 15 to 5. Cecil Duff making his first appearance for the Sox in the second. In the final game between them this season, the Cubs trim the Sox, 2-1. Grimes getting a single and a double. The Pirates climbed nearer the top by trouncing the Cardinals, 11-9. Bartlett being slaughtered for 11 hits in two frames. The league leading Glants suffered a double defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves, 6-0, 4-2. The Yankees sustained a severe set back in the American circuit, by losing a couple to Boston, 4-3, 5-4. The Red Sox from the Hugen this year—Williams of Philadelphia got two runs in the first and Peters of the same team got two more in the second of a double header split with Brooklyn, 11-3, 8-7.
